Note In some editions of Photoshop, the options bar and preferences dialog box are combined into one box. To see both together, click the Options bar item at the top of the screen. * Rearrange tools on the toolbars : If you don't like your current order of tools on the toolbars, or if you need to add a tool, type a letter in the Find dialog box (Figure 6-6), and then click the current tool. A menu appears so you can select your new order. The useful Photoshop brushes are found in the Brush category in the top toolbar. The filter section, the powerful brush adjustment tools, and other tools are found in the left side of the main workspace, near the menu bar. * Make layers : Select the Layers button at the left end of the toolbars and then double-click a layer (the default) to turn it into a _layer

The present invention relates to a splicing apparatus for splicing a plurality of optical fibers. FIG. 6 shows a typical conventional splicing apparatus. In this apparatus, a plurality of optical fibers, each having a coating 12, and a light source 13 are prepared. The coating 12 is stripped from the respective optical fibers by a stripping member 14. The optical fibers are maintained in a position such that the stripped portions thereof face each other, and the stripped portions are caused to abut each other and are spliced with a fusion splicer 15. After the splicing, the coated portions are held by a suitable member and are thus protected. Then, the coating 12 is regenerated, and the regenerated portion is recoated by the coating regenerator 16, and the regenerated portion is again held by the suitable member. In the conventional splicing apparatus, however, since the optical fibers are held in a position such that the stripped portions thereof face each other, the positioning of the light source 13 is difficult. Therefore, the light source 13 is preferably installed above the splicing member 14, and the parts are disposed in a box-like manner. This makes the structure complicated and large. In addition, the stripping of the coating 12 and regeneration of the coating 12 take a long time. Chad Ochocinco is reportedly the Redskins' future No. 1 receiver, and it's no surprise to see the man affectionately known as Chad Ocho blush. When it comes to playing receiver for the Redskins, Ochocinco has a lot of ground to make up. On the outside, Santana Moss and Leonard Hankerson are all that remains from the talent that has left this team in the NFL draft in recent years. When the team signed both Hankerson and Moss it was assumed they would be battling for two spots behind the departed Pierre Garcon. Now, with Moss' health still a question mark, Ochocinco is being brought in to give the offense a boost. The Redskins have always had quality speed on the outside for their passing game, but if Ochocinco can grab one of the final two receiver roles, he would bring in a kind of speed the Redskins have never had in their short history. Don't be surprised if the chemistry he shares with Josh Gordon on the Bengals shows on the Redskins' team this year.Q: Arduino Mega microcontroller fails to boot using USB as power supply I have Arduino Mega
